Peerless Industries to Debut Display Panel Cart/Stand at Digital Signage Expo in Las Vegas

Two-in-One Movable Cart/Stand Holds up to four 60-inch Displays – Industrial Strength Design Allows Frequent Use and Enhance Maneuverability

LAS VEGAS (February 22, 2011)–Peerless Industries announced today its movable cart/stand product for digital displays at the Digital Signage Expo 2011. Designed to display up to four digital screens, the cart/stand offers customers in corporate, entertainment, and multiple other industries an unparalleled ability to present digital data on the go. The product will become available in Q2 of 2011.

Constructed of welded high-quality steel, the sturdy frame of the cart/stand withstands repeated use and frequent mobility. The product is designed with gusseted uprights in its tubular frame, ensuring a solid base that is perfectly balanced to avoid tipping. A horizontal rail system allows users to adjust side-by-side displays to ensure the line up properly for a seamless look. Industrial swiveled castors allow 360-degree mobility, a substantial benefit for maneuverability in tight office or facilities settings. Even at full capacity, the cart can be easily moved by one individual.

The product can accommodate screen sizes from 40 to 60 inches through staggered hole patterns on the vertical supports. Conversion to a stand is quickly accomplished by replacing the wheels with the available Peerless leg accessory leveler. The cluttered appearance of multiple hanging wires is mitigated by the cart's internal cable management slots that afford a clean look required for presentations and other corporate uses.

The Digital Signage Expo (DSE) is the world's largest international trade show and conference dedicated to digital signage, interactive technology, and Out-of-Home networks. Visit Peerless and explore the new Wall Cart and the company's other innovative applications during the DSE show at Booth #2009.
