Peerless-AV™ Features AV Racks at 2011 CEDIA EXPO

Three and Five-Shelf Racks Support Up to 1,000 Pounds of Components – Sleek Design and Internal Cable Management Provide Clean Appearance

Indianapolis, IN (August XX, 2011) – Peerless-AV, the leader in innovative audio and video solutions, announced today it will showcase two of its AV rack products at the 2011 CEDIA Expo.

The company's professional-grade AV racks and accessories are designed to help manage valuable components with an organized and professional look. Like a piece of furniture, the rack's contemporary design and sleek finish complements the décor of any room or home theater. The sturdily designed shelves accommodate components of various sizes and are built with integrated cooling panels to prevent overheating. Cables are managed through integrated clips to allow proper routing of bundles of cables.

Rubber casters give the racks easy and safe maneuverability, allowing them to be placed in tight spaces including closets and against walls. The AV rack comes fully assembled, saving time and effort for the end user. The rack also comes with optional rubber casters and handles that can be easily attached. The AV racks are available in a three-shelf half rack and a five-shelf full rack models, with load weights of 500 and 1,000 pounds respectively.

“Our AV racks provide stability and performance for components of varying sizes,” said Robert Meiner, Product Manager, PRO Products. “With solid steel construction and quality casters, the racks come fully assembled for optimal customer satisfaction. Internal cable management gives the A/V racks a sleek and seamless appearance”

Peerless-AV will showcase its AV racks from Booth #3839 at the 2011 CEDIA Expo, being held September 7th-10th at the Indiana Convention Center in Indianapolis, IN. The CEDIA Expo is the leading tradeshow for the residential electronic systems industry, and a showcase for the latest home technologies in entertainment, efficiency, security, and automation.
